

The Patiola

Outdoor dining in comfort

The Patiola is designed specifically for outdoor dining areas and can be both robust and attractive.

It's fully motorised cover allows it to be fully closed providing protection from the elements in wetter months whilst also providing guests with the opportunity to take full advantage of those sunny days too.

The Patiola can cover areas large and small. Versatility is achieved as they have the ability of being connected side by side as well as back to back. This also means they are incredibly flexible in placement.

Whether we install our Patiolas with sides, guttering or with many other additional products, you are assured that you gain the full potential out of this versatile product.

Shades of Comfort have found this to be tremendously affective in seasonal coastal resorts where outlets may not have maintained constant trade due to adverse weather conditions.

Our client's feedback has taught us that applying this addition to their premises, their trading hours are extended throughout all seasons.

Case Study

The Ferry boat Inn, Falmouth

Situated on the mouth of the Helford River this attractive location not only needed a robust covering but also something that was retractable. Here we used both a Patiola and an Awning.

The Patiola is fully retractable. In addition to this, it is operated on a framework that is stronger than a standard awning.

Shades of Comfort used an approx 4m x 3.5m unit with the addition of heating and lighting. The awning is 4.5M x 3M in size also accommodating heat and light.

This Patiola and Awning are both remote operated providing shade when the sun can be an irritation. Being easily operated, it allows the staff at the Ferry Boat Inn to offer a little extra comfort to guests that wish to dine outside.
